

Health & Safety – Incident Investigation Course

Training In Supply (TIS) offer training designed for the logistics related industries, including health and safety training for Health & Safety Representatives, supervisors and managers, including incident and accident investigation.

The Health and Safety at Work Act 2015 (HSWA) aims to promote the health and safety of everyone at work and of other people in or around places of work. To achieve this, the HSWA requires people who are responsible for work and those who do the work to take steps to ensure their own health and safety and that of others.

This course, Stage 2 in a series of three courses for Health & Safety Representatives addresses:

- The new Health and Safety at Work Act brief overview
- Accident and Incident Reporting Best Practice
- Understanding and applying “Root Cause Analysis” to incident investigations
- Case Studies - Re-investigating the investigations of others and
- Making recommendations for improved workplace safety based upon “lessons learnt”

Health & Safety Representative - Stage 2: Incident Investigation Course

WHO	Health & Safety Representatives (HSRs), team leaders, supervisors and first line managers who have previously completed Stage 1 Health & Safety Representative training and who are able to confirm where and when that Stage 1 training was completed (albeit with another training provider).
WHAT	This course confirms the knowledge and skills acquired during the Health & Safety Representative Stage 1 course, and addresses management of workplace safety and the investigation of health and safety related incidents.
WHY	For HSRs to carry out their job effectively, they need to be well informed about health and safety matters. Each HSR is entitled to two day's paid leave per year to complete training. Attendance at this course assists HSRs and their employers in meeting that requirement.
